Western Aphasia Battery, Revised

Authored by Andrew Kertesz, MD, FRCP

Quickly screen or comprehensively assess adults with acquired neurological disorders.
About the WAB-R

The (WAB™-R) is an individually administered assessment for adults with acquired neurological disorders (as a result of stroke, head injury, dementia). It is adaptable to various administration settings from hospital room to clinic. WAB-R assesses the linguistic skills most frequently affected by aphasia and key nonlinguistic skills. WAB-R also provides differential diagnosis information. The Bedside Record Form provides quick assessment for clinicians with time constraints and busy schedules, or patients that cannot tolerate a longer assessment.

Uses & Applications of the WAB–R

Whether you’re a new or longtime user of the Western Aphasia Battery, your assessment practice will be enhanced!

The WAB-R provides:
- Identification and classification of aphasia types
- Assessment of linguistic skills most frequently affected by aphasia
- Assessment of nonlinguistic skills that may be related to neurological events, such as dementia
- A baseline level of performance to measure change over time

WAB–R is best used for:
- Initial assessment of patients with stroke
- Adults with acquired neurological disorders or disorders secondary to cerebral vascular accidents (e.g., strokes, head injury, or dementia)
- Adults at a low- to mid-range language functioning level or low SES level
- Classifying the type and severity of aphasia disorder (if present)

The WAB–R can be used in many settings including:
- Private practice
- Acute care hospitals
- University clinics
- Skilled nursing facilities
- Rehabilitation facilities
- Residential & non-residential adult treatment centers
